OutPitch Sports, LLC introduces Online Ranking, an exclusive training feature of the Leather Pitching Target, designed to track pitching skills and compete with others.

FEDERAL WAY, WA. – March 2, 2006 – OutPitch Sports, LLC, manufacturer of the Leather Pitching Target (www.leatherpitchingtarget.com), today announced the availability of Online Ranking. Online Ranking is an exclusive OutPitch Sports application designed to track the skill test progressions of Leather Pitching Target customers and provide motivation through terrific competition. This exciting feature may be accessed for free by clicking the Online Ranking link listed on the left side of the www.leatherpitchingtarget.com website.

“We are pleased to introduce this innovative and exclusive feature to our customers. They can keep track of their skill test progressions in our online database and compare their performance against the achievements of other baseball and softball pitchers all across the country,” said Mike Swanson, President of OutPitch Sports. “As our customers pass skill tests and record their progression distances in our database, they can instantly watch their rankings rise and take pride in their accomplishments.”

After registering, users instantly receive an account ID and password that allows them to log their skill test progressions and manage their personal profile. The “Ranking Search” feature is used to view rankings based on criteria such as age, state, category, and type of skill test. This feature allows users to compare their achievements with others and find out where they rank. Registration is not required to perform a search.

“The Leather Pitching Target stands alone as the highest quality pitching target available,” said Rusty Trudeau, Baseball/Softball National Sales Manager for Baden Sports. “With Online Ranking, they have separated themselves even further from the competition. I’m a firm believer in the product and the company that stands behind it.”

OutPitch Sports, LLC was founded in 2004 to manufacture and distribute the Leather Pitching Target product line. The Leather Pitching Target is a highly effective, professional training tool combined with a proven instructional system designed to dramatically improve pitching performance.
